THE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN.

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS. (From the "Strarts Times," July 27, 1868.) Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which eserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowedge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on hina and Japan, published monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. t says a good deal for the extent and

From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868. . We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the pest Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better known in India.

(From the "London Examiner," May

16, 1868. This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports of China and Japan"] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with Peking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao, has been carefully compiled and edited Dressing Cases, and Travelling Bags Mr N. B. Dennya; and the elaborate maps and plans, with which the work abounds. considerably enhance its value. * * *

We have thus given in outline some of the more prominent portions of the chapter devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghae, and the remaind t of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to European readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we would fain transfer them to our columns. A complete and intelligible plan of the Imperial City and neighbourhood, gives us an accurate notion of the relative position of its divisions, streets, and places. In the introductory chapter to the notices of the Treaty Ports of Javan will be found as uccinct history of that Empire, together with remarks on its government, geography, and limits, which will be found particularly interesting as throwing a considerable light on a part of the world so long entirely, and still comparatively, unknown to Europeans

THE "Challenge Plate" for the ensuing race meeting is one of the most magnificent which has been fabricated, not merely for Hongkong but for places more pretentious than this Colony, in racing matters. The group represents hand to hand the encounter, between Ethelred the unready and the Danish King Sweyne at the battle of Æscesdun, Aschendune or Ashtondown as usually pronounced. It was inspected when finished by Her Majesty who was highly pleased at the manuer in which Mr Armstead's design was carried out. We may mention tings which lasted throughout a period that the design was drawn expressly for this cup which is, quite apart from its intriusic value, a beautiful work of art. A considerable quantity more silver was used than necessary in its composition in order to bring its value up to the amount it represents. The plate has been at view lished. In these last-named papers, at Mesers Falconer & Co., but was packed this afternoon for sending down to the Course to-morrow. This racing community are much indebted to the skilful hands to whom Mr Falconer has committed execution of the plate and cup designs; for while the Challenge Plate unmistakeably carries away the palm, the other cups are each marvels of beauty and finish. "DIFFICULTY" AT HAWAII. A correspondent of the Hawaiian Gazette of Nov. 18, writing from Kona, gives the following description of an outbreak which church at Kainaliu was built, by subscription, upon Mrs. Johnston's (now Mrs. Roy's) land, and a large proportion of the amount required was subscribed by the followers of Kaona, who, at that time, were members of the church, in good standing Mr. Paris, the Pastor preached on certain Sundays, and Kaona, who was, I believe, one of the Lunas, would preach on others, For a time, all went on smo thly enough, untill Kaona began to introduce some slight innovations in the form of worship, which were opposed by Mr. Paris and a minority of the congregation, and the church became split into two factions. Although the church was built by general subscription, and Kaona and his party were the majority, Mr. Paris, and those thinking with him, claimed the exclusive use of the church, to the expulsion of their opponents. was resisted by the Kaonaites. As they were subscribers to the building, and no trustees had ever been elected, nor any charter granted by the Government, they contended that they had a right to worship God in their own way, in common with those who differed from them. The feud continued to increase, and Kaona's opponeuta, finding they had no law on their side to justify the expulsion of the Kaonaites, resolved to take the law into their own hands, and fastened up the door of the church. Shortly after, the door was mysteriously forced open, and the Kaonaites all entered to worship. 'A warrant was then issued against Kaona and some of his lesders, on the charge of house-breaking. The case was heard before the District

Judge of North Kona, who had occasion, immediately after the hearing, to leave for Honolulu, and in consequence deferred judgment until his return, and requested the Sheriff not to confine them during his absence. The prisoners were, however, put in irons, and placed in prison at Napoopoo, and there kept for some nine days, until the return of the Judge from Honolulu. But the Native Judge's advice was disregarded, and notice was given out in some of the churches on Sunday, that all must assemble next morning to carry out the laws on the Kaonaites. On Monday morning, Sheriff Neville, with the regular police of both districts, numbering between 30 and 40 men, and some 200 special constables, (native and foreign), propaeded to make the arrest of the Kaonaites. Upon reaching the camp, he was, in the presence of this large force, felled from his horse by a stone, and immediately set upon by a number of the Kaonaites, when all but one or two deserted him and fled, as if for their lives, without a single hand being

THE COOLIE PIRACY ON BOARD THE AMERICAN BARK CAYALTI.

The following narrative is from the Hawaiian Gazette of November 18. contains some further particulars relating to the Cayalti tragedy. The Chinese coolies by whom the Cayalti was seized were transferred from the Providenza without being landed first,

The bark Sea Breeze James A. Hamilton, Master, arrived here yesterday, at 7 A. M., from the North-East Gulf. She had the owner of the American bark Cayalti, and Chinese boy on board, as passengers, who alone, out of the whole crew of that ill-fated vessel, saved their lives. We are indebted to Capt. Hamilton for the following interesting report of the tragedy :

On the 30th day of June, 1868, whilst cruising in North-East Gulf, I had two boats along shore, looking for whales. They landed on Crag Island, where they found a stranger, with a Chinese coolie, (his servant), and a few natives, who were collecting the eggs and ducks which abound there. After hearing a part of their story, the first officer brought them on board, as they were in a very destitute and almost starving condition. On their arrival, and in answer to my inquiry of who he was and how he came on that island, the stranger narrated to me the following tragic tale of piracy and murder, with the incidents attending the extraordinary cruise of the vessel, which he left were taken into court ironed, when the on the 22nd day of May. N. W. about 12, N. W. about 15 when they lost the trades, and then went according to the wind and drift of the vessel, there being only six that knew anything about steering From their ignorance of seamanship they soon lost all the light sails, masts and yards, and the larger sails being much torn from the continual slatting to which they were subjected. When they were about 77 days out, they made land, probably the Kurile Islands, covered with snow, and drifted about for five or six days, at times close in. They passed into the Uchotsk Sea, where they got into the ice, in which they remained three days. When about 118 days out, they found themselves one morning close in shore, and anchored. Here they remained tive days, and the natives coming on board, they obtained some deer. Bending some sails, they proceeded to sea, and in three days came to anchor again in another place. Here Mr Codina obtained permission to go on shore with them in the boat, where he wisely concluded to remain, his steward also preferring to stop with him.

They saw one sail on the cruise, near the Islands, and the steward set the colors, union down. The stranger changed her course for them, but when the coolies saw this they hauled down the colors and made all possible sail, and kept away. As the Cayalti was a very fast sailer, she soon gave up the chase, and resumed her course. was much disappointed to learn that it was five weeks since he last saw the vessel for, had the time been shorter I would have cruised for her, and had I fallen in with her there would have been some fun.

Where Mr Codina landed he found the natives very kind, sharing with him such food as they had; but it was hard fare, to judge from his appearance when he came

Mr Codina learned from his steward that our of the coolies had been pirates on the coast of China, but their haunts had been proken up by the Euglish steamers. I think the Cayalti could not have sailed and drifted less than 10,000 miles. Mr C. estimates his pecuniary loss as exbeeding $33,000.

TERRIBLE HEAT—BUSH FIRES IN VIOTORIA. We regret to say that on this occasion there is exciting and disastrous news from the South, which is not confined to New Zealand. The Argus (Melbourne) says :--

"December the 24th, 1868, will be for some time remembered from intensity of the heat felt that day, and the ravages caused in parts of the country by wide-spread bush fires. In the morning the heat was very great, the sun shining with intense radiance from a clear blue sky and the wind strongly blowing from the north hot as the blast of a furnace. At Beechworth and Albury the lulu, he found that they were forestalled champagne, 50 boxes candles, 65 barrels of in the shade—a figure higher than any prefires covered a large part of the country, causing great destruction amongst the crops and the grass. Gipps Land seems to have been the part which suffered from this cause. One whole township—the small mining hamlet of Gladstone, on Maximilian Creek-was entirely destroyed by a great fire which came down from the ranges with extreme rapidity, urged ouwards through the dry bush by the strong hot wind, and the small propulation of the place had but just time to make their escape to some mining workings in a neighbouring gully before the whole place was in a blaze. The account given by a local paper states :-"The flames surged onwards and roared like a raging sea. As the women looked out from their retreat they could see noth. ing but black smoke, relieved occasionally by the red flare of the fire whilst the noise was deafening and the heat insupportable. The children were crying all the time for water, and there was none to wet their For two hours did they remain in this position, with no liope of ever again seeing the light of day, when one of the men ventured out in search of water. He was, however, fully half an hour groping about in the dark before he could find waterhole. HULLOWAY'S PILLS & OINTMENT. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

HIS Medicine is universally admitted to be the most efficacious remedy known to the world. No preparation is ac suitable to the climates of India and China as this fine and invigorating medicine. is particularly adapted to the constitution of European ladies, as it is never failing i its effects in all diseases peculiar to females while those who are attenuated by the debilitating effects of the above climates will find in this wonderful remedy a kind of talisman whereby they may insure a restoral tion to robust health.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT The science of Medicine has never before produced any remedy that can be compared to this wonderful Ointment; as it care after all other means have failed; all wounds, sores, ulcors, and also the most inveterate skin diseases peculiar to the climates of India and China. It is the true triend of the Soldier and Civilian, as cer tain 'old sores can be removed by it that cannot be conquered by any other treat-
